Didsbury

Chautauqua Coming Here December 1-5

Didsbury is again fortunate in having the winter Chautauqua which this year begins on Saturday, December 1st, the performances being staged in the Opera House.

The first day's program opens in the evening with a 'play' presentation, "Let's Go Somewhere."

The Carlyle Novelty Trio, composed of three charming personalities, furnishes the entertainment on the afternoon of the second day, and also a prelude in the evening of the same day preceding a lecture by Dr. Charles H. Plattenburg. This remarkably constructive discourse, though humorous, will inspire a great degree of civic activity and instil into all a spirit of patriotism in relation to their own particular community. The lecture is entitled, "A Modern Tale of Two Cities."

The afternoon program of the third day opens with a timely, helpful, unique and demonstrated lecture by Mrs. J. Dominick on "How to Dress Well on a Moderate Income." In the evening another play will be presented, "Peg O' My Heart"—an Irish comedy.

There is no performance on the afternoon of the fifth day, Dec. 5th. Be prepared for the final evening, the climax of four delightful days of education and entertainment—"The Massey Five," a remarkably varied and popular program by a family of musicians and entertainers who have won signal triumphs throughout the entire continent.

Season tickets may be obtained from any member of the committee. Adults $2.25, Children $1.00.

The afternoon performances begin at 3 o'clock and the evening at 8 o'clock.

WEDDINGS

JENNER—MOORE

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. Wm. Moore, Westerdale, on Thursday evening, November 15th, at 7 p.m., when his eldest daughter, Estella Aileen, became the bride of Mr. Alan T. Jenner of Calgary, the Rev. Deoprose of Westerdale officiating.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. John P. Schrader, the bride entered the room on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage.

The bride was charmingly gowned in shell pink georgette and carried a shower bouquet of sweet-heart roses. She was attended by her sister Helen who wore a dress of pink silk flat crepe and carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Phillip Andrews of Harmattan.

After the ceremony a reception was held when sixty guests were served a sumptuous wedding supper, a three-tier bridal cake being the centre piece.

Vocal, piano and violin selections were rendered during the evening.

Numerous and beautiful gifts were received by the bride and groom, and their many friends wished them Godspeed and happiness on the good ship Matrimony.

The groom, formerly of Toronto, is an employee of the Calgary Postal service, while the bride is very popular and well known to a wide circle of friends in Westerdale and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenner will make their home in Calgary.

COLLINGS—BRAWN

A quiet wedding, in the presence of relatives, was held at the home of Mrs. Frederick Brawn, Olds, on Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m., when her daughter, Miss Winnifred Brawn, became the bride of Mr. Tom Collings of Didsbury. Mrs. Kershaw of Didsbury, a sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and the groom was supported by his brother from Edmonton. The

Canada On Easy Street

Hon. James A. Robb, Dominion Minister of Finance, is credited with the terse comment, "Canada is on easy street," when making announcement last month that even before due date, the Treasury had paid off $22,000,000 of the $53,000,000 short term bonds falling due on October 15, last, and that the balance would be paid on due date out of cash on hand in the Treasury. Even so, said Mr. Robb, there would be "some left over," and he had reason to hope, "If Providence continues kind to us and gives us good crops, and business keeps just as good as it is now, without even getting any better," to take care of further maturities coming along from now till 1933.

In other words, out of current revenues and without having to resort to the issue of refunding loans, Canada was able to pay off $53,000,000 of its public debt this year. And this does not represent the full amount of the debt reduction that has been effected this year, with a consequent lowering of the interest burden.

In the short period of six years the public debt has been reduced to an extent that means a lessening of the burden of interest annually in an amount of almost $15,000,000. And if Mr. Robb's expectations for the next five years are realized an equally large, or even larger, amount will be lopped off by 1933.

The most gratifying feature, however, is that this substantial reduction in debt and in annual interest charges has been achieved, not as a result of increased taxation, but concurrent with a general decrease in taxation, including lowering of tariff schedules, a lighter tax on business profits, reductions in the sales tax, smaller income taxes, reduced postage rates, smaller stamp levies on cheques, and the abolition of stamp duties on receipts. In a word, the removal of restrictions on the business of the country has been helpful in the development of business, and, as a direct consequence, larger revenues to the Government.

Another important factor has been the really phenomenal improvement in the management and finances of the Canadian National Railways as a result of which the Dominion Treasury is no longer called upon to pay out huge sums to cover operating deficits and in interest to the public on account of railway bonds and debentures. On the contrary, the C.N.R. now accumulates an ever increasing surplus to apply on its past obligations to the Government.

The year now drawing to a close will, it is confidently expected, disclose a record year in the history of the Canadian National Railways, while President Beatty is authority for the statement that 1923 will, in all probability, prove to be the banner year in the history of the Canadian Pacific.

A perusal of the press of Canada, and particularly of all financial journals in which are recorded the annual reports of the banks, trust, loan, mortgage and insurance companies, and all the large manufacturing and industrial concerns of the Dominion, discloses the fact that one and all are enjoying great prosperity, enormously increased business and substantial profits.

No one circumstance can be credited with the whole responsibility for this magnificent showing, although it is safe to say that the great grain production of the West, coupled with the betterment in the life stock industry, the increase in dairying, and other branches of agricultural expansion, form the background, and is largely responsible for the general speeding up in the whole business of the country, and is occasioning the transfer of other lines of industry from the East to various centres in the West.

The general betterment is the result, as Mr. Robb frankly recognizes, of a beneficent Providence without whose aid all man's efforts must come to naught. It is due, also, to the courage, industry and enterprise of the Canadian people, and to some extent to the steady improvement in world economic conditions, inasmuch as Canada is dependent so largely upon its export trade.

Present conditions are, therefore, good and sound, and future prospects are very bright. It remains for the people of Canada to take full advantage of the situation, not to rest on their oars, but to plan and work in order that our rosy expectations for the coming years may be fully realized. Every reduction in the public debt, every dollar saved in interest charges, every item of taxation lowered or wiped out, means further relief to all people and a further incentive to still larger development and growth. It is, therefore, to everybody's advantage and gain to work together in national co-operation.

Indigestion

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise. The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Fox Ranching Profitable

Prince Edward Island Still Leading District In Canada

Fox ranchers claim that it is a profitable pursuit, and evidently there is something in it when the applications for registration continue to rise rapidly year after year. Applications received at Ottawa for inspection to Oct. 1 this year ran over 58,500, and more have come in since that time. Prince Edward Island is still the great fox-raising Province. Over 23,000 of the 58,500 applications come from the Garden of the Gulf. New Brunswick is second with nearly 9,500, and Ontario third, with 5,210, is the Province which is making the greatest proportionate increase.

WHEN YOUNG GIRLS GROW PALE AND THIN

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Should Be Taken To Enrich the Blood

When girls grow weak, pale and thin, parents should not neglect these symptoms; to do so means danger. The girl in her teens cannot develop into robust womanhood without an abundant supply of rich, red blood in her veins. It is the lack of this that is the great trouble with nine girls out of ten. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have achieved world-wide fame for their remarkable blood-making properties. In these pills there is vigorous health, with glowing cheeks and sparkling eyes for every weak, pale girl. The value of the pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Winnifred Rutty, Barton street west, Hamilton, Ont., who says:—"About two years ago my eldest girl got into very bad health. I took her to a doctor who advised having her tonsils removed, saying this was the seat of the trouble. We had them removed, but it did not help her, and she seemed to have absorbed so much poison from the trouble that she did not pick up at all. She could neither eat nor sleep, and what food she did take did not digest. Then she developed a cough that kept her awake at night, and went down in weight to 95 pounds. A neighbor said to me, 'You have tried so many things why not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?' I got some and before she finished the second box she began to show improvement. She continued the use of the pills for some time and is now in the pink of condition, able to work and play, and eat and sleep with all her old-time vigor. These statements can be verified by neighbors who watched her restored from ill health to perfect health."

If your medicine dealer does not keep these pills you can get them by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRAGIC STORY OF SINKING OF LINER VESTRIS

New York.—Two shiploads of survivors of the Lamport and Holt liner "Vestris" arrived here, unfold details of one of the most horrible of marine disasters.

An official inquiry has been ordered, based upon their almost unanimous charges of inefficiency, indecision and delay against Captain William J. Carey and his crew.

Interspersed in narratives of heroism—and of brutality—of narrow escape and long-suffering invariably appeared assertions that if proper steps had been taken by the ship's executives and crew, most, if not all, of the 108 now dead would be alive.

Even with the S.O.S. call too long delayed, efficient handling of the Vestris' life-saving equipment by those responsible would have brought most of the 108 out of danger, declared survivors.

Those are charges which United States Attorney Tuttle announced he will begin to investigate.

But Captain Carey probably had his reasons—yet he will never tell them. For forty years he had sailed in Lamport and Holt steamers. He "came up" through the "fo'castle," as the sailors say, starting as a deck boy, advancing to ordinary seaman, then an able seaman, and finally "winning his ticket" and putting on the gold braid of an officer of the line.

When he took the Vestris out of port he was the ranking master of the Lamport and Holt fleet.

Two days later he stood on the bridge and knew his ship was gone. For the first time in his forty years at sea, Captain Carey gave the order to abandon ship. He never had lost a boat before. He stood at the rail and directed the mates as they had the boats lowered away.

He saw two boats loaded with "women and children first"—the first two boats to be put over-side. He saw them capsized and crumpled in the smoking seas.

He saw Lionel Licorish, a gigantic negro from the Barbados, leap into the water and save 16 people by pulling them to the sides of waiting lifeboats. He saw Archibald Bannister dive oversides and climb into an empty boat which had gone adrift and then coax and drag into it a full load of 22 persons. He heard women scream and saw men quake with fear. He saw human life fade out around him.

And all the time the first ship he had ever lost was settling deeper and deeper into the sea.

At last all were gone. One boat remained by the ship's side, a place in it for Captain Carey and another for Mike O'Laughlin, his chief radio officer.

But those were never taken. Carey probably was the last man who saw O'Laughlin alive. That gallant officer was last seen still at his key near the master's bridge, and the hiss of the radio's spark was still mingling with the hiss of the sea which lapped upon the settling decks. O'Laughlin probably leaped into the sea and was sucked down by the ship.

But this to Carey—40 years with one line and this his first disaster—was the end.

Bent beneath his tremendous burden, he stood at the rail, the survivors said, as the water reached up for him and his ship.

There were lifebelts and lifelines all around him—the things might have saved his life.

But Carey chose the course which many another true deep water sailor had chosen. He leaped into the sea and as the vessel went under water Captain Carey went with it—a dead ship going down with a dead skipper still in command.

What is more satisfying after the bridge game than a cup or two of Red Rose Tea? Millions of Canadians prefer it to any other because of finer flavor, remarkable strength and dustless purity. Put up in aluminum—the only material which completely protects good tea.

Prospect For Further Reduction In Taxes

Increase In Revenue Makes Cut Next Year Probable

Ottawa.—Prospects for further substantial tax reductions next year are said to be improving with the increasing receipt of revenue collected by the customs department. In September the customs receipts showed an increase of over two million dollars over September, 1927. In October the customs receipts are said to be up by over three and half millions.

The seven months collections from customs are up by over seventeen and a quarter million dollars. Despite tariff reductions in the last budget. A percentage of the increase is due to the bigger percentage of collections of money due and a curbing of customs dodging.

The October excise collections will when published show an increase of over three-quarters of a million over October, 1927.

The excise taxes are down about fifty thousand but this is credited to the substantial reductions in the tax itself which this year amounted to 25 per cent. The net increase for the seven months, however, is nearly three and three quarters millions.

All government departments are said to have been instructed to prepare their estimates carefully, and this is now being done so that with an increase in the revenue even under reduced taxation and a decrease in the expenditure further tax reductions will be included in the "1929 Budget."

Search For Small Continues

May Use Steam Shovel To Dig For Remains Of Missing Millionaire

Toronto, Ont.—Patrick Sullivan, special agent for the Misses Small, sisters of Ambrose J. Small, missing millionaire, may secure, it is said, a steam shovel outfit from Bolton, Ont., to excavate the Rosedale dump where both Sullivan and Dr. Langsner, criminologist, believe the remains can be found.

Sullivan anticipates that the work of excavating the dump will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000.

Despite previous assurances that he had abandoned his enquiry into the disappearance of Small, Langsner will return to Toronto from Montreal for further work upon the world-famous mystery, it is learned here.

"I have been in touch with Langsner and he tells me that he will be back here at work on the case before the middle of next week, perhaps before," Sullivan said.

Lava Flow Diminishing

Natives In Mount Etna Region Meeting Changed Conditions

Giarre, Sicily.—With the lava flow from Mount Etna diminishing hourly in intensity, natives of the stricken region are gradually reorganizing their economic life to meet the new conditions that nature has forced upon them.

There was some talk of tunnelling through the lava which has spread over the road as soon as the molten stream cooled and its flow subsided. This would restore the severed railway to normal service. One of the most radiant over the diminution of the lava flow was Leonardo Patane, whose age is 100, and who is known as the "Granda of Nunziata." This intrepid centenarian steadfastly refused to budge from the threatened village. He proclaimed to all and sundry that he would be the last to leave. Now he is exhibiting a broad and toothless grin, saying "I told you so" in Sicilian dialect to all visitors.

New Zealand Elections

Government Forces Under Premier Coates Receive Setback

Wellington, N.Z.—Prohibition was defeated by a majority of around 100,000 votes and the government forces under J. G. Coates, prime minister, suffered a severe setback in the election.

Prohibition was on the ballot in the form of a referendum as to whether a licensing system should be adopted. The vote was overwhelmingly against continuance of prohibitions.

A new united party under the leadership of Sir Joseph Ward made its debut by gaining seats from Premier Coates' party all over the Dominion.

The final standing by parties was: Government, 28; United party, 20; Labor, 20; Independents, 6.

Most of the Independents are opposed to the government. The premier's party failed to gain a single seat. It held 53 of the 80 seats in the last parliament.

The new united party combines Liberals, Nationalists and others opposed to the reform and Labor parties.

Three ministers lost their seats—A. D. McLeod, minister of lands; O. J. Hawken, minister of agriculture, and J. F. Ralleston, minister of justice.

British Government Testing New Device

Simple Piece Of Machinery Said To Make Small Quantity Of Electricity Unlimited

London, Eng.—The Daily Mail gives prominent display to an article asserting that William Harrison, an elderly resident of St. Helen's, Isle of Wight, has invented a simple piece of machinery by which it is claimed a small quantity of electric power can be converted at trifling cost into relatively unlimited supplies of current at high voltage.

The device has been patented by Harrison and his sponsor, Councillor Thomas Wood, a manufacturer of St. Helen's. The Mail says that the invention has attracted keen attention from the government which is testing it.

It predicts that if the claims, which are contrary to all previous theories, are substantiated all present methods of manufacture and distribution of electricity will become obsolete.

Headquarters Of Department Likely To Be at Ottawa

Ottawa.—With the retirement of Sir Frederick Stupart, director of the meteorological service of Canada, on January 1 next, it is expected that the headquarters of his department will be removed from Toronto to Ottawa. The growing service of the bureau to navigation, forest fire fighting, the work done by the Department of Marine and Fisheries and, more recently the aeroplane traffic together with the fact that all the other important branches of the weather service are located here, are given as the reason for the change.

Hudson's Strait Expedition

Montcalm, in command of Captain John Hearn to Quebec.

PLACE FOR THIS DOMINION IN EMPIRE AFFAIRS

Montreal.—A willingness to share the responsibilities which in the earlier stages of Imperial development Britain bore alone is the obligation which Canada and other Dominions should be ready to meet for their development in the British Commonwealth of Nations.

This is the message which Sir Austen Chamberlain, secretary of foreign affairs in the British government, left with the people of Canada before he left Montreal for Quebec, en route to England.

"There is room in our Commonwealth," said Sir Austen, "for the fullest development of Canadian nationality."

"We welcome your co-operation in all fields, and not least in the field of foreign affairs; but now that you claim, and rightly claim, a place in the field of foreign affairs, you must study them. You must take an interest which will make your papers afford you all the information necessary to enable you to form a judgment and you must be willing to share the responsibilities which in the earlier stages of Imperial development we have had to bear alone."

"We shall welcome your assistance and even your criticism. But let it not be criticism only after the event, but a real partnership in forming the decisions."

WHAT ABOUT IT?

The little town of Delburne, as well as Lacombe and Innisfail, established a rest room for the women and children who come into town for shopping purposes. These conveniences are mainly established through the medium of the Women's Institute or some other organization. It is a valuable service for the benefit of those who come into town to shop.

Didsbury must not get behind. We are living in a real progressive town which is growing every year.

There are the pool rooms, garages and offices where the men meet, sheltered from the cold, or sit down and rest, but where is the place the women folk and children can go to warm themselves, who have possibly come in from a cold drive from the country?

If the local welfare organization would co-operate with the town council there is a possibility of arranging for some kind of quarters for rest rooms, immediately. It should have been thought about long ago.

It might be a good idea to take in hand the establishment of community rest rooms in a suitable building in which a reading room could be also located.

It costs money! Yes, anything worth while costs money. This plan would benefit the local merchants to no small extent. Perhaps they have a plan. Let's hear it. The columns of The Pioneer are open to the discussion of any worthwhile civic or community enterprise.

THE FLAPPER AS WIFE

Much concern is shown in some quarters as to the kind of wife the modern girl will make. The modern girl has the term, flapper, applied to her in derision and scorn, and the people who use the word that way seem to think they can kill her with a phrase. They are mistaken. We have always had flappers with us, and always shall. Eve was the first flapper; the last woman on earth will be the last flapper. Mother Eve was unfortunate not to have someone who came before her whom she could blame, but her descendants have certainly blamed her enough for flapperitis. In modern times, age seems to have no good word for youth. Always youth is going to the devil, in age's opinion. But youth does not go to the devil. There is no devil to go to, for one thing, and youth is too wholesome and straight to go, anyhow.

That's what's the matter with the modern girl, the flapper; she is wholesome and straight. She looks at questions from a different point of view from that of her mid-Victorian grand mother, and perhaps of her mother also. There is no mock modesty about her; she admits that she has legs and is not afraid to show them silk-attired. She will talk frankly or questions that use to be taboo, but she only recognizes the facts of life. The flapper is more secure than the girls of past generations, because she is not so ignorant of vital matters. Formerly ignorance was presumed to be innocence. And it was nothing of the kind. Many girls went wrong because they were kept ignorant of the vital facts of life. The modern girl is deemed by many old-fashioned people to know too much. But no girl can know too much; it is those who know too little who fall by the wayside.

She will make a good wife, the flapper. More of a pal and friend, and less of a partner to a contract than many wives have been. More able and willing to make allowances for hubby's weakness than some women have been because she has a better knowledge of human nature. Better fitted, too, to make a good, wise mother than many of the old-fashioned, cloistered type made, because she knows more about the world and its temptations and is benefitting by the modern study of childhood. Not that the old-fashioned mothers were not or are not fine and splendid, but that "new occasions teach new duties". We are living in the Twentieth Century; a young century yet and the century of youth. The flapper will make good as wife and mother, because underneath the lipstick, the rouge, the little mirror and the powder puff, she is all woman, making herself attractive to her possible mate, but, nevertheless, with all a woman's goodness, intuition, willingness to sacrifice, and tremendous capacity for service. Yes, she may smoke a cigarette—and we don't like to see her doing it—but that is but a passing fad; time will show that she's woman all through.

Colonization Board Formed in Didsbury

At the instigation of the Department of Colonization of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a committee has been formed in each of the important centres throughout the province to foster the assimilation of immigrants from Europe either on land of their own or to be placed as laborers only. The scheme is two-fold. Immigrants who do not intend to settle on their own land can be hired out. The local board notifies the Calgary department if farm or other help is required. It is the aim to place these men on farms by the year if possible on a small living wage.

For married people coming out from the Old Country or other European countries, the department will locate these families on suitable land, generally leasing a few acres of a large farm for the purpose for a beginning.

The directors of the local colonization board are Messrs. J. A. McGhee, A. Brusso, Jas. Clarke, J. H. McNaughton, with C. E. Reiber as secretary. Anyone requiring help of any description could get on touch with any of the directors or the secretary.

We are glad to report that Mr. Tonjum, of the North End Lumber Yard, who has been confined to his room for the past week with inflammatory rheumatism, is much better and will soon be up and around again.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hawkes motored to Calgary Sunday last.

Marriage Licenses issued

Olds - Alberta

A number of new regulations dealing with the commercial fishing industry in the province have recently come into effect, according to R. T. Rodd, Dominion fisheries inspector for Alberta. Only a British subject or a resident of the province or a Canadian firm having its headquarters in the province will be eligible to take out a commercial fishing license. Winter fishing in Lac la Biche will be allowed from December 1 to February 15 inclusive, unless the maximum catch permitted under the act has been taken before that date. A long season will be allowed in Lake Isle in the Wabamun district where fishermen may operate from May 16 to February 15 of the following year, unless the maximum catch has been taken prior to that date.

A farmer at Opaton, near Camrose, is trying a unique experiment. Due to the long dry fall weather he has sown 150 acres of Marquis wheat on prepared land, expecting the seed to germinate in the following spring. Should the experiment not prove a success, however, he will still have time to reseed to wheat or oats.

Announcement by the dress designers of Paris that the short skirt must go, naturally raises in the mind of mere man accustomed to the ups and downs of life, the question "which way"?

GLIMPSES FROM THE PAST

20 YEARS AGO

Clayton Snyder left on Monday for Edmonton where he is to take a course in the Grand Trunk Business College.

As some ratepayers have been sending their dogs out into the country visiting and bringing them back when they thought all danger of having to obtain licences for them was over, the Council decided to instruct the constable to go after the owners of such dogs.

The Council decided at its last meeting to purchase a large chemical engine for fire fighting purposes and to build a small building to house same.

BORN—On Saturday, Nov. 8, 1913, to Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Wrigglesworth, a daughter.

DIED—On Wednesday, Nov. 19, 1913, at Didsbury, Mr. Robert Robertson.

Mr. G. B. Sexsmith has opened an office building next to Chambers' drug store.

Among the new municipal districts recently formed in the province is that of Westerdale, No. 311, also Rosebud No. 280, near Carstairs.

10 YEARS AGO

A great deal of relief is being felt in the southern part of the province since the epidemic of influenza seems to be dying down. The situation is so much better in Calgary that theatres and other public places are to open again.

Fire destroyed a barn at the rear of the Presbyterian manse on Thursday last. By good hard work the manse was saved as was also another barn within a few feet of it. The fire was caused by small boys playing with matches.

Mrs. M. Stringer of Westcott passed away on November 2nd, 1918, death being due to Spanish influenza. Her little son, Charles Henry, passed away the following week. Mr. Stringer has the sympathy of all who know him.

INFORMATION FOR SPORTSMEN

Attention is drawn by Benjamin Lawton, Provincial Game Commissioner, to a number of clauses in The Game Act which are being wrongly interpreted in some quarters. Mr. Lawton points out that nowhere in Alberta is there an open season for beaver and there is no open season for muskrats in that part of the province lying to the south of the North Saskatchewan River. Between that river and Township 91 the open season for muskrats will be during the months of March and April; while to the north of Township 91 the open season will be during March and April and the first fifteen days of May.

The open season on Hungarian partridge is during the months of October and November. It may also be noted that big game hunters may bring out their trophies such as heads, hides and hoofs of big game animals lawfully killed by them, separate from the carcass.

One thing worse than a quitter is a fellow who is afraid to begin.

A Bad Case of Eczema

Are you reading the weekly Canadian letters, telling stories of suffering from skin diseases and how relief was effected?

Here is part of a letter from Mrs. E. Gibson, Box 126, Midland, Ont. Write her if you desire. "I had a very bad case of eczema on my face and neck, also scalp. Could not find anything to give me relief. One small bottle of D. D. D. gave me great relief, so then I secured a large bottle, and I am now without a blemish."

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. When a prescription for skin disease has letters of endorsement from nearly every city and town in the Dominion, surely it is enough to convince the most skeptical. Relief from itching torment is immediate. Try one $1.00 bottle of D. D. D. today on the positive guarantee. And D. D. D. Soap, too.

New Device May Simplify Duties Of Airplane Pilot

A new gyroscopic device for steering airplanes, successfully demonstrated in Germany, indicates that one of the problems of safer flying which has occupied the attention of aeronautical engineers has been solved. In a test flight from Berlin to Breslau, in which three trans-Atlantic aviators participated, it was only necessary for the pilot to handle the controls during the take-off and landing. Once in the air, the plane was guided by an "iron man" and followed the exact course, set by the inventor, to its destination. Many stabilizing devices have been developed for air-craft, but this appears to mark the most advanced step toward lightening the duties of the pilot and giving him more time for navigational details and other tasks.

Troubled With Painful Eruptions Cuticura Healed

"I was troubled with itchy, sore eruptions on my head for over a year. They were very embarrassing in company as I wanted to be scratching all the time, and if I did scratch them a watery fluid came from them. They were very painful, and my hair came out in patches. I tried many remedies during that time but without success. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some. The irritation stopped after one week's treatment, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss B. Chicken Hatcheries For Alberta

Company plans To Establish Hatch-eries At Several Points In the Province

A chicken hatchery on a large scale is to be established in Alberta, according to L. M. Gaetz, a member of the firm of Canadian Hatcheries, Limited, of Vancouver, and a recent visitor to Edmonton. He stated that the plan of the company was to establish, eventually, hatcheries at several points in the province, where there is unlimited scope for baby chicks of high quality strain; also for eggs and poultry.

LAXATIVE FOR BABY THAT "STAYS DOWN"

Baby's tiny system rebels against castor oil and strong purgatives; but here's a medicine that just suits him. And it does the work quickly and so gently that Baby doesn't feel it. Fletcher's Castoria is soothing cross, fretful babies and children to sleep and making the feverish, constipated, upset ones well and happy, in millions of homes today. Castoria is purely-vegetable, harmless and endorsed by the medical profession. Avoid imitations. The Chas. H. Fletcher signature marks genuine Castoria.

The remains of a lost civilization are being searched for in Soviet territory. They don't say who lost the civilization, but we can guess.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS ALWAYS IN THE HOME

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she always keeps a supply on hand, for the first trial convinces her there is nothing to equal them in keeping children well. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus driving out constipation and indigestion, colds and simple fevers and making teething easier. Concerning them, Mrs. Saluste Pelletier, St. Dumas, Que., writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past ten years and am never without them in the house. They have always given the greatest satisfaction and I can gladly recommend them to all mothers of little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Simple and Sure. — Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is so simple in application that a child can understand the instructions. CHAPTER VII.—Continued.

For a short interval the noble animal held his majestic pose, then swaying awkwardly, he disappeared from view. At the sharp crack of the rifle the man by Donald's side winced as though the bullet had seared his own flesh. Brushing the sleeve of his coarse mackinaw shirt hastily across his eyes, he muttered a curse, then turned and ran with stumbling steps to his waiting team, mounted the seat and clucked gently to his four horses. The big animals strained against their collars. The huge load moved slowly at first, then gathering momentum, rolled swiftly up the road.

Gillis brought five cayuses to the rear of the station and in a few minutes his practised hands loaded two of them with their luggage.

The small cavalcade moved up the dusty road in a single file, with Douglas in the lead. They overtook and met numbers of freight wagons going in and out, the drivers shouting greetings to each other in foreign tongues. They passed the track-laying machine, which was throwing the heavy rails about as if they were matches in giant hands. Guards stopped them without the zone of flying debris while giant blasts rent the air as if some titanic monster had torn the earth asunder. Huge rocks soared above the trees, then crashed to the ground with sickening thuds, while small pebbles spattered about them. Through the trees they saw a cloud of steam and smoke. The air was shrill with incessant quick steam-whistles as a huge steam-shovel growled and tore like a ravenous monster at the gravelled hillside. Four men bearing a stretcher came slowly down the trail. A man on horseback, wearing riding breeches and leather leggings, rode in their wake.

"How are you, Doctor Paul?" greeted Douglas. "Is it a serious accident?"

"Tree fell on him. Broke both legs, and he is hurt internally—won't live," answered the doctor in a low voice.

Donald glimpsed the face of the sufferer showing ashen through a stubby beard. Bloody bandages framed two crimson-stained lips, from which issued the gurgling groans of agony. They moved on in silence for a few moments.

"When people ride in trains," observed Gillis, "there ain't one in a thousand that knows what it costs in sufferin' and lives to make it so's they can ride in comfort."

By mid-afternoon they came to the vanguard of the army of workers, the men who were clearing the right-of-way. At intervals they could hear the long-drawn cry of the choppers as the top of a giant tree shivered and then with a great rending crash fell to earth with a resounding roar. Here they came to the end of the new road, and with a feeling of relief they plunged into the cool shadow of the virgin woods. After the great clamour, the forest, through which the trail wandered deviously, seemed steeped in primal calm. The roar of the blasts no longer came in definite crashes, but was smothered by the distance to a muffled rumble.

A rider jogging down the trail reined in his horse and shouted a cheery greeting in true Western style. He was a clean-limbed, alert young man, with a frank smile, and seemed elastic with the sword-keen health of outdoors. He swung easily from the saddled and introduced himself.

"My name is Wilkinson. I am the District Ranger. It's getting a bit dry in spots, so I want you to be careful about your fires."

When Douglas told him the object of their trip to Summit Lake the Ranger smiled apologetically.

"My warning was unnecessary, then. I took you for a party of campers. I'm following the construction work, so will probably see you again before long."

He mounted his cayuse, waved his hand in farewell, then galloped down the trail.

The narrow path wound around the boles of enormous trees towering high above them, some of the tallest being nearly two hundred feet in height. Gillis appraised them with a critical eye. He was thinking of them as logs, calculated in terms of board feet, but over Donald's head beauty and nobility cast a strange spell. How long had these monarchs enjoyed the repose so soon to be broken by puny man? Probably some of them were good-sized trees when Columbus discovered America.

The solemnity of the forest was at times broken by the sharp "ka-a-a-a-h" of startled deer as they caught their scent, or the sudden hum of wings as big blue-grouse shot up from their path. Once the horses pricked up their ears and snorted in fear as a bear crashed his way through the deep woods.

As daylight abandoned the forest and twilight made eerie shadows on the dusky trail, they swung to an open space on the banks of the roaring Cheakamus River, and made camp for the night.

At daybreak they began the upward climb, and by noon felt the buoyancy of the air in the higher altitude. They crossed rushing streams and skirted the shores of small lakes on whose waters rested flocks of ducks in gregarious raft-like formations. The cayuses with their enormous packs showed signs of fatigue, and Gillis called frequent halts as the trail gradually grew steeper.

"We are nearly there," cried Douglas eagerly.

A few minutes later they topped a heavily-wooded hill and swung in to a narrow path on their right. There was no need to guide the horses, as they knew that here were rest and food for them.

There was a sudden quickening along the line. Donald's horse broke into a run, with Andy's close behind, the latter holding to the rear of his saddle and making a wry face.

"I wish I knew 'ow to keep this 'ere blinkin' saddle from comin' up and hittin' me in the seat," said Andy querulously.

Donald reined in his eager horse as they emerged from the woods and an enchanting scene burst on his view.

"This blinkin' 'orse is. . . ."

Andy stopped as his gaze followed Donald's. Both sat spell-bound, and the others joined them quietly.

The panorama spread before them was singularly wild and impressive. Below them stretched a lake of emerald hue, rippled here and there by occasional cat's-paws, but for the most part, placid enough to reflect the shores with mirror-like clearness. To their right lay an open valley, through which ran a crystal clear mountain stream, its banks fringed with willow, alder and blooming labrador tea. A rustic bridge of logs crossed the rushing stream to a cluster of well-built log cabins that were fenced in by a palisade of cedar posts. Inside the enclosure a patch of freshly ploughed soil stood out rich and dark against the carpet of green.

Under the azure sky, dotted with fleecy clouds, a brilliantly white skyline of ice-covered mountains, whose peaks flashed in the setting sun, circled this beautiful mountain valley.

From below were wafted the odours of an awakening earth. The sweet perfume of the newly-opened and sticky buds of the balm-of-gilead, the delicious aroma of the spruce and pine, the heavy, sweet smell of the water plants and the white orchids; all this fragrance was borne on the crisp, sparkling mountain air. Involuntarily the travellers filled their lungs with this life-giving atmosphere.

A beautiful gold-eye drake and his drab-coloured mate along the shore in search of a safe place to nest. From the centre of the lake a loon sent out its weird cry, echoing and re-echoing from the wooded hills like wild demoniacal laughter. A quick rush of wings overhead, then a mallard duck struck the water with a loud splash and immediately set up a sustaining quacking until answered by a more gentle note from the reeds, whence emerged a hen-mallard. The two met amid a great bobbing of heads. Gabbling in an undertone they swam down the lake together.

The elusive hooting of male blue-grouse came from the tree tops of the rocky slopes. A willow-grouse moved from a clump of bushes with a haughty step to show her finery by ruffling the feathers of her neck and spreading her fan-like tail. There was a sharp "plop" as a rainbow trout curved gracefully on the surface to leave a widening circle of ripples on the calm water. All through this sun-washed valley was the soft murmur of a land at peace—at peace because unspoiled by man.

Donald drew a long breath. "Strike me pink!" breathed Andy in an awed tone.

"Holy mackerel! but ain't she a pretty spot?" came excitedly from Gillis.

As they rumbled across the bridge a man came to the door of the log cabin, ran swiftly to the fence and swung the gate open. With a hand held to his brow to shade his eyes from the slanting rays of the setting sun, he peered up at the horsemen. His eyes lighted up as he recognized Douglas.

"Hello, o' timer!" he shouted cheerily.

John Hillier filled the dual role of trapper and road-house keeper. His fantastic dress of deer-skin, the six-shooter slung at his hip, and the big sombrero that topped his shaggy grey head gave him almost a sinister appearance.

Old John's face was savage and wild, but his bristly moustache hid a mouth as tender as a woman's. Great shaggy brows beetling out over his grey mountaineer eyes could not conceal the softness that crept into them so often. His gentle eyes seemed out of place in that homely, battle-scarred face. It was like finding a touch of romance in a treatise on trigonometry.
